Overall, UCF crime statistics down

by MICHELLE ABRAM
Staff writer

Every year the UCF Police Department reports to the UCF community the crime statistics for campus crimes that occurred over the previous five years. These statistics are published by requirement of the 1990 Federal Crime Awareness and Security Act.

"All U.S. police departments report their crime statistics yearly to the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) who, in turn, publish the Uniform Crime Report (UCR)," said Sergeant Tom Gorbis, Crime Prevention Unit Coordinator for the UCFPD. "Additionally, the 1990 Federal Law mandates that all college campus police departments publish their last three years of crime statistics in various forms of news media and brochures to the college community."

There are seven categories of crime, listed in the table labeled Uniform Index Crimes, that the FBI recognizes as the most serious crimes. Also shown, in the table labeled Arrests for Miscellaneous Offenses, is the number of alcoholic beverage, illicit drugs and weapons violations that occurred on campus.

Students, staff, faculty and visitors are encouraged to pick up a copy of the Police Services and Safety Guide. This is a free brochure published by the UCF Public Safety and Police Department. It provides helpful information regarding University Policies, Police Services, Crime Prevention Safety Tips, and UCF Crime Statistics. The brochures are available at the UCFPD. For further assistance or information, the UCFPD can be reached at 823-5555.

Road work, parking take UCF hostage once again

by RYAN ANDERSON
News editor

Many UCF students have found it takes a little longer to get to class than they anticipated - thanks to a couple of hurdles which make getting a car on or off of the campus a little tricky.

For the second year in a row, road construction around the UCF campus has greeted students as they try to get to and from their classes.

Last year, the paving of University Blvd. caused delays for many students in their daily commute to the campus. This year's road work spares the students who travel down University, but snares the students who travel to school via Alafaya Trail from Oviedo.

The reason for the delay is a road widening project which will make Alafaya Trail a four-lane highway from in front of UCF to just across the Seminole County line.

While few would argue that once the road work is completed the trip to and from UCF will become much easier, it is the current state of the road which causes more than a few tempers to flare.

"The road construction is a big pain. I keep thinking that I will wake up one day and the road will be completed, but I guess that takes time," Assistant UCF Sports Information Director Cory Rogers said. "I will be glad when the road is done. Sometimes I feel like I am in New York with all of the traffic."

Rogers lives five minutes away from UCF, but since the road construction started he said it takes him 30 minutes to get to and from the campus.

"It is not even worth it for me to leave campus right at 5:00 because the traffic is so bad," Rogers said.

Rogers is not the only person who finds it difficult to get off campus due to the road construction.

"It seems to me that the Alafaya construction is probably the cause of traffic backing up so badly that it takes me 15-30 minutes to get out of the education parking lot after my classes," education major Sandra Quandt said.

However, road construction is not the only thing causing students' delays getting to their classes. Once students get on campus, many have found that finding a parking place on campus can be difficult - causing some students to rearrange their schedules in the hopes of finding a parking place.

"In order to avoid the terrible parking situation, I have to schedule my classes early in the morning," education major Christina Columbus said. "We pay enough as it is for our parking decals, at least the administration could supply enough parking spots."

Many students quickly discovered the fact that a UCF parking decal does not always translate into a guarantee of a UCF parking place.

"We're paying for a parking decal and we can't even find a decent parking place," civil engineering major Tomas Laos said. "I usually have to drive around the campus for about a half hour to find a decent parking place."

One reason for the increased wait for campus parking is the increase in students trying to park on campus. Enrollment hit an all time high this semester at 27,000 students.

In an effort to ease future parking headaches at UCF, a parking garage is scheduled to be added to the campus later this year. Once the parking garage is completed, it is expected to add 1,324 parking spaces to the UCF campus.

Despite the pending solutions to the current traffic and parking dilemmas, future road construction and shortage of parking will most likely plague UCF for many years to come as the school continues to be the fastest growing university in Florida.

Police Beat

• Driver caught with suspended license

A 23-year old female was charged and arrested for driving with a suspended license on August 22. The defendant was pulled over on Gemini Blvd., after running a red light, by a UCF police officer. Apparently, her driver's license had been suspended previously on four different occasions.

• Traffic stop uncovers outstanding warrant

A 27-year old male was charged and arrested on August 13 for the failure to appear in court for driving with a suspended license. The defendant was stopped for an inoperative left brake light. The officer conducted a search on the defendant's driver's license and found that his driver's license was suspended and there was an active warrant out for his arrest.

• Marijuana bust at Lake Claire Apartments

A 19-year old, UCF student was charged with the possession of marijuana at Lake Claire Apartments on July 26. UCFPD was advised of the possibility of several individuals smoking marijuana inside an apartment. There was a strong odor just outside the apartment door. An officer entered the room and confiscated under 20 grams of marijuana.

• Reported Stolen •

• On Aug. 9 it was discovered that umbrella poles from the tables near Great Escapes were taken and used to break into soda machines from Student Services. Full and empty cans of soda were left lying around. The total value of the stolen soda is $27.50.

• It was reported on Aug. 2 that stereo equipment from the Kappa Sigma fraternity house was stolen. An amplifier, a speaker box and a compact disc player are missing. The approximate value of the stereo equipment is $740.

• An IBM Lap Top, (serial #2307765/UCF #CF075663), and a Proxima Panel, (UCF #CF072512), were reported stolen from the Business Administration building, room 375, on July 25. The total value of the equipment is $9,708.

• A 19-year old, female, UCF student was charged with the possession of alcohol on Aug. 31. She was parked in the Kappa Sigma parking lot when an officer drove by and noticed her drinking a bottle of Bud Lite beer. Although the defendant did not have any identification on her, officers were able to verify her name and birth date.

• Incidents reported •

• Matthew Lambert reported that his parking decal was stolen from the back of his car on Aug. 31. His car was parked at the Alpha Tau Omega parking lot. The decal appeared to be removed by a sharp object, causing damage to the vehicle's paint. The total value of the decal and the damage done to the car is $109.99

• On Aug. 27 it was discovered that someone spray-painted Greek symbols onto several trees near the Administration building. The Greek symbols that were painted stood for: Omega Psi Phi, Delta Sigma Theta, Alpha Kappa Alpha, and Alpha Phi Alpha. There is no way to remove the paint without causing damage to the trees. The estimated replacement value of the trees is over $7,000.

If you have information regarding any of the above incidents, please contact the UCFPD at 823-5555.

Letters From Readers

The Central Florida Future,

I would like to make some comments about your article titled, "Preparations for SG Elections begin". I am a student senator elected last fall term and I would like to make everyone aware that any changes made to the statues were done by people who were not elected by the student body, but appointed by the Administration. If I am correct, this would indicate to me that any and all changes to the statues would reflect the opinions of the administration and not the student body.

The current statues do not direct a senate forum and it should also be noted that students running for the Senate are not required to be present at this event. Most people do not have a lot of interest in the Student Senate and to sit through every candidate's speech which could consist up to three or more students per seat, where the total Senate consists of approximately 50 seats, which could potentially be up to or more than 150 people speaking. Are there enough dedicated students that have a strong interest in what goes on in Student Government willing to listen to every candidate?

I would hope that the current election commissioners are not currently making their own changes or additions to the statues without review by the Student Senate, because these people are also appointed, not elected.

Impress your family, Annoy your friends and Baffle your enemies with: Pretentious Vocabulary!

nefarious

(nuh-FARE-ee-us)-adj:

1. Evil or manifestly wicked.

example:

YOU: That's the most nefarious thing I've ever seen.

ROOMATE: No, that's just the Rikki Lake Show.

Life under a Perot Presidency

Nature's wacky way of saying, 'I could easily kill you!'

☐ Where's Dr. Bob Sheets when you really need him?

As the Atlantic grows warmer and the tropics begin to churn up storms with fun-to-pronounce names such as Humberto, it's time once again for us Floridians to prepare for hurricane season and countdown to impending disaster. With close calls like Hurricane Bertha and Fran, local news programs constantly stress the importance of having several hundred gallons of distilled water ready at a moment's notice. So we Floridians, realizing we're in the hurricane danger zone, consider the advice of the experts, weigh the pros and cons of assembling disaster kits, and decide to change the TV channel.

But violent weather is nothing to take lightly. After all, I saw Twister, and if that movie taught me one thing, it's that even though weather forecasters have sophisticated weather predicting computers, they would have never forecasted that someone could make hundreds of millions of dollars with a movie that's just one big action sequence. I'm thinking about making a movie titled "Stuff Being Destroyed and/or Blown Up." I think it would do really well. It would have no frivolities like plots or characters, just two hours worth of special effects and fiery explosions.

But back to hurricanes. Meteorologists are always saying things like, "New coordinates have just come in, so get your hurricane tracking chart handy." They say that if you want to know what's going on, you'd better be tracking the hurricane. Also, if the National Weather Service happens to forget where the storm is, they can call a viewer out there to get the coordinates. So, wanting to be a part of the hurricane tracking season, I got a tracking map.

I have here a hurricane tracking chart from Duracell. It gives information and trivia about hurricanes and lists the important items you should have to live through a deadly storm. As you might expect, the number one and most important item you should have is: DURACELL (TM) batteries. Number two on the list: DURABEAM (TM) flashlights. And coming in a close third: food. Drinking water barely made the list, listing in as number seven. It's a good thing they remembered to put food and water on the list at all, because most people naturally forget about those obscure items and pack disaster kits consisting of nothing but hundreds of DURACELL (TM) batteries and DURABEAM (TM) flashlights.

Storm Victim: Hey neighbor, could you spare some canned corn?

You: Corn? Who the hell needs corn when you've got flashlights?

So just to be safe, I want to be prepared for hurricanes this year and make a disaster kit, because I personally know how powerful hurricanes can be.

Last year hurricane Erin's eye passed within miles of my family's home, leaving literally dollars of damage in her wake: we lost two shingles. They were good shingles, and I miss them. Please, if you see two reddish-brown shingles roaming around Central Florida, tell them they're wanted at home. All of their shingle friends miss and love them. Thank you.

And now a lesson in writing Opinion columns, by Dr. Charles Nooley:

Students, when writing an Opinion column and/or article, there are several ways to conclude the work:

1. Draw logical conclusions basing off facts you supplied in the body of the column.

2. Suggest alternative paradigms through which to view the problem you addressed.

3. Pretend roof shingles are alive.

Here, the writer has chosen to use method three, which is a common choice. Further evidence of this technique can be found in Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury and The House of Seven Gables by Nathaniel Hawthorne.

How safe are you at UCF when your privacy is being compromised?

I would like to give you my full name, but that would give the campus access to something very private to me: my Social Security Number. It is being given away to the world through the World Wide Web in the form of the Pegasus account created for me by UCF. The Social Security Number is now used to identify people for far too many services, including UCF. It was supposed to be limited to the Social Security Agency but has grown to be used not only by the Government but banks, credit cards, driver licenses and even schools. It is all right that the University of Central Florida use the Social Security Number for their reports to the federal government, but they should not have it listed on the web. Even Financial Aid may use it for loans, grants and scholarship processing. The bank needs it so it can report earned interest and employer's need it to report income. With so many companies and agencies using the Social Security Number as an identifier, it should be kept as secret as possible.

UCF students have had their privacy violated by the school's Pegasus computer system. The computer system is all over the campus in the various computer labs. It gives the students access to the Internet, word processing programs, graphic programs, e-mail addresses and many more benefits, but invades our privacy by using part of your Social Security Number as part of an identifier on the system. A unique identifier (user ID) for each student is needed so at logon the network can track what the user is doing. It was chosen so there are no duplicate IDs. The Pegasus ID is the students three initials (first, middle, and last) and the last five numbers of your Social Security Number. Even though this is only a partial listing, it is enough to get the other four numbers.

UCF students have had their privacy violated by the school's Pegasus computer system.

I am a strong believer that the Social Security Number should not be given out so freely. Once someone gets your Social Security Number, he/she has a piece of private information. This, along with more data, can cause you trouble when applying for credit cards, loans, and jobs (especially Government related Jobs).

The classroom and Pegasus is not the only place you've lost private information. You most likely give your Social Security Number at many places around the campus. How about at equipment rental located at the pool? Do you want to borrow a kickboard, racquetball, football or volleyball? If so, then you will place your name, ID number from your student ID, and your Social Security Number on the equipment log. That would be fine and dandy, but this log is not secure. Maybe when the All Campus Card is completely installed all a student would have to do is have his/her card swiped.

Paranoid am I? Well maybe, but is it paranoid to take the long way around than walk down a dark alley. Walking down the alley there is a risk of getting hurt by mugging or falling down an uncovered manhole. Something as simple as a birthday can gain access to the information kiosks around campus. Of course, the person will also need the Social Security Number, but that has been covered. Once someone has all the information, they can impersonate anyone over the phone. If any laws are broken while being impersonated, who is going to get the blame? It is up to each individual to keep codes and numbers that can identify the individual secret. With credit cards, once it has been compromised a different card can be gotten with ease. But if private information is compromised, look out. A new name can be obtained with a little paper work, but a new Social Security Number will take an act of Government. What to do about it? Well you need to see the manager of Pegasus to change your ID. If they do not allow students to change it, then to be safe, tell them to cancel your account. The University is bound by federal laws and can not give out private information. The law that the University falls under is the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). Even citing this law, you may lose your Pegasus account if they are not set up to make the changes. The University had the right idea giving all students accounts but they used the wrong data. They must have been looking for the easiest way for students to gain immediate access to the computers on campus. Maybe a better way for assigning user IDs would be for the computer center to assign arbitrary user alpha-numeric number, then include it on the class schedule that is sent to students before the semester began. The password would have to be sent separately though. Banks will not send the ATM card and the PIN in the same envelope.

If you have ever lost your wallet/purse, and needed to cancel credit cards, ATM cards, driver's license etc., then you know the headache you could be in for if someone impersonates you with your own private information. So the next time someone asks for personal data or give out someone else's, that may be the piece of the puzzle that allows an impersonator in.

Car club sparks interest of UCF students

by BRIAN GAJEWSKI
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The University of Central Florida Knight Riders, a new club based at UCF, promises to break new ground with an ambitious schedule of upcoming events. The club was founded in April 1996 and is growing rapidly. It went from a pipe dream of two students to a large organization in only a few months. The UCF Knight Riders is a special interest club dedicated to car enthusiasts of all makes and models and is open to fans of foreign or domestic cars and trucks.

The organization was set up to carry out many tasks: to provide technical help for those interested in repairing or upgrading their automobiles, to organize car shows and activities, and to provide information or advice regarding new or used car purchases.

We will write a weekly column in the Future to inform students of new activities our club will organize, information on new cars, a technical repair advice section, and information on restoring classic automobiles. If you have any repair related questions about your automobile please e-mail your question to ucfkr@pegasus.cc.ucf.edu

The club is also planning a large car show on campus for next year. It will feature both new cars and classic cars on display. Several of the activities at the show will include car related movies like Christine shown at the Wild Pizza along with other contests. With over 25 members of the club working hard on the upcoming car show, it will be a memorable event.

As the club expands, it plans to pay homage to its name derived from the 1980's action TV show Knight Rider. Several of the leaders of the UCF Knight Riders are setting up the first national fan club dedicated to the Knight Rider TV show.

There is additional information about the University of Central Florida Knight Riders located on the internet at <http://pegasus.cc.ucf.edu/~ucfkr> for those interested in the organization. The UCF Knight Riders will participate in the Fall Activities fair on September 11, 1996 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the UCF Green.

Anyone interested in the organization should attend the new member meeting on September 18, 1996. The meeting is scheduled for 5 p.m. at SC 214. Official UCF Knight Rider t-shirts and baseball hats are available at our internet home page to help raise funds for upcoming events. If you would like to volunteer for the upcoming car show, please contact us.

Brian is the President of the UCF Knight Riders.

Air bags: Saving lives or just full of hot air?

by BRIAN GAJEWSKI
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Air bags are standard on just about every new car and truck produced. They are thought to save lives in collisions by inflating when a car collides with another vehicle or fixed object. The air bag is designed to serve as a pillow to reduce injuries of car occupants. They inflate at rapid speeds of up to 200 mph in a matter of seconds.

A recent report conducted by the National Highway Traffic Safety found that air bags are not as effective as once thought. According to their report, air bag injuries cancel all safety gains. The studies conducted have shown that while the amount of fatal injuries in frontal collisions has dropped slowly, the amount of infants killed in cars each year has risen, along with the amount of nonfatal injuries.

Infants are dying due to the deployment of the air bag during an impact. Infant car seats sitting in the passenger side of an automobile equipped with dual air bags are dangerous. In these situations, the air bag inflates and crushes an infants' skull and spinal column. Since 1993, 24 children have been killed by the force of vehicle air bags.

Besides killing infants in child safety seats, air bags actually increase the amount of injuries sustained by passengers of automobiles. The air bags are known to break arms and cause other injuries because of their explosive force.

The government currently requires all new cars to be equipped with dual air bags, but may reverse the mandate after these reports. The general public is only now finding out that air bags are useless. Air bags have been available in cars for more than 20 years, yet the general public is only getting the information now.

The worst part about air bags is that they are expensive. Each air bag a car comes equipped with adds another $1500 to the price of the car. That means that all new cars that come equipped with dual air bags, would be an average of $3000 cheaper without the air bags.

Air bags actually increase the amount of injuries sustained by passengers of automobiles.

Ford Motor Company is now researching the possibility of putting side impact air bags in their vehicles. Volvo already produces vehicles with side impact air bags. The reason side impact air bags are being produced is that normal air bags are only effective for frontal collisions. When a car gets hit from the side, a traditional air bag will not deploy. That is the purpose of side impact air bags. Side impact air bags and dual front passenger air bags add $7000 to the price of the car.

Many people have been skeptical about the effectiveness of air bags. They feel that they don't help any. "Air bags are garbage. I am so happy I drive a car that doesn't have them. They are a total waste of money," says Greg Mackie, UCF Sophomore.

The automakers have no choice in outfitting their cars with air bags, they are required by law to install them in every new vehicle they produce. The new studies conducted have show that all air bags do is make automobiles more expensive. The do not effectively save lives. If they worked, they would be equipped in NASCAR models that exceed speeds of 200 miles per hour.

If you have technical questions regarding your automobile problems, E-mail ucfkr@pegasus.cc.ucf.edu for answers.

Ann-Margret
Let Me Entertain You
(RCA)

What do you get when you cross Betty Boop and Marilyn Monroe? Give up? It's Ann-Margret singing Bye-Bye Birdie. This is a compilation of all her artistry, I use that term very loosely, back in her hay-day when she was hooking up with Elvis, and Frankie Avalon was "dreamy". Let Me Entertain You is chock-full with "21 Sexy Hits". Listen to The Lady Loves Me and hear A-M cooing along with "The King". You can also check out the inside liner notes written by none other than the immortal George Burns. Does that tell you something about this relic? Have you noticed that I haven't mentioned too much about the music itself? There really is not too much to say. It's a big goof. Look, if your are ordering 13 CD's for a penny from BMG and you don't know what to get for your last selection, order it. You'll have a good laugh and the pictures of A-M are great, (what a babe), otherwise save your money for something useful.

Gorky's Zygotic Mynci
Introducing Gorky's Zygotic Mynci
(Ankst)

Listening to this CD is like taking a trip right back to the sixties. I think these guys are Russian. I say this because of their accents, the name of the band (Gorky), and some of their songs are sung in what sounds like Russian. I have mixed feelings about this one. If your into more underground, tripped out, stuff this CD is made for you. The band implements bass, winds, brass, guitars, drums and piano. The music is good and I like the production too. Most of the songs are very cool. My biggest problem is that they sound so similar that I only want to hear about four songs at a time. By the way, the CD has twelve tracks. So if your looking for something new and really different, go get Gorky's Zygotic Mynci, your friends will wish they discovered it.

out the game, with the exception of containing Staley, who ran for a total of 188 yards. The Cocks wore down the UCF lines late in the game and finally struck the final blows on Culpepper that put him out in the fourth quarter. He was later diagnosed with an ankle sprain that was initially hurt early in the game.

"They got lucky," Culpepper said. "Not to take anything away from them, but they got some lucky breaks. Two or three plays made the difference. My interception really hurt. If we score on that drive it could have been a different game."

Culpepper will be fine to start next week's game against New Mexico. He finished with a modest 18 of 32 completions for 210 yards and 2 touchdowns. Many other nights proved their Division I caliber, as well. Grant ended up with 80 yards on 12 carries, and Cleveland upped his NFL stock with 11 receptions for 120 yards.

"For my first Division I game, I think we did all right," Cleveland added.

Although the final score appeared as if one of the team's was truly dominant on Saturday, neither squad considered the game over until the final seconds ticked away.

"Just like last week against William & Mary," linebacker Nakia Reddick explained, "Once we settle down, we're just fine."

The Golden Knights played out a 10-7 score throughout the final three quarters and demonstrated to a stadium full of Cocks that on a good day their home team may not have been as happy with their season opener. The Golden Knights head west this week against an undefeated New Mexico.

Any changes to such rate will take effect on the fifth business day each calendar month and will remain in effect until further changed. For example, the month of May 1996 had an interest rate of 12.50%. The loan has a 7 year term with no pre-payment penalty. If you were to borrow $2,020.00 and maintained a constant variable rate of 12.50% during a 7 year repayment period, then your APR would be 14.59%, and your monthly payment would be $36.22 for 84 months. Welcome to the Big Time

UCF settles down to show poise in second half against the Cocks

by SEAN PERRY
Columbia, S.C.

It happened in Tallahassee, it happened again in Providence and, by God, it almost happened here in the Capitol of South Carolina, in the Golden Knights 33-14 loss. Following an unsportsmanlike penalty to open the Gamecocks' season, the Golden Knights fielded their first Division I challenge at their own 37. To the roar of 76,411 cocks, the three touchdown underdogs marched down the throats of the Southeastern Conference representative and struck first with 10:15 left in the first quarter. In a part of the country, in which the sport has attained a divine status and a program considered the Saturday afternoon savior, 76,411 screaming cocks fell silent.

"That's what I was expecting us to do," receiver Todd Cleveland said. "We just needed to keep up that tempo."

The silence did not last, however, as the Golden Knights 10 play, 63 yard drive was quickly answered. Only 45 seconds after Daunte Culpepper found Eddie Mack wide open in the end zone, Carolina's Duce Staley scampered in to even the score. The next 13 seconds looked like déjà vu all over again. The Gamecocks defense trapped Culpepper in his own end zone for a safety. Then they struck again and again for three first quarter scores.

As had happened at Doak Campbell, the Golden Knights came out adrenalized and proved themselves worthy of the highest level of college competition. Then things seemed to come crashing down as the Seminoles humbled them on their way to a defeat. A similar first half performance was registered by the Running Knights in Providence, Rhode Island at the NCAA basketball tournament. The home team looked good early on only to be brought down to earth in the second half. This time, though, things were going to be different.

After experiencing an early breakdown on both sides of the ball, the Golden Knights settled in for the final three quarters. A well executed initial drive that included the Culpepper to Cleveland hook-up for plays of 11, 19 and 13 yards, changed it's look in the second quarter. The offense looked to Mike Grant for stabilization as he found openings up the middle for a total of 49 yards. Receiver Mark Nonsant then reached for a 19 yard score from Culpepper.

UCF Takes Two in UCF Soccer Classic II

After a moderate showing in the inaugural UCF Soccer Classic I, the Golden Knights men's soccer team hosted the UCF Soccer Classic II. But unlike most sequels, the second time around turned out to be the masterpiece.

UCF improved to 3 - 1 over the weekend, defeating Ga. Southern 2 - 0, and Univ. Maryland Baltimore County 3 - 0. It was also the third consecutive shutout for UCF and goalkeeper Tuomas Tuomilehto.

Forward, Heikki Ritvanen, led UCF with four goals, two in each game. Mid-Fielder, Rami Vehmas had the other goal in the second game.

Ritvanen was disappointed as he was denied the hat-trick in both games, but said, "The team wins, that's most important."

Coach Bob Winch was pleased with the victories, stating, "It's so important to start quickly." UCF does have to get out of the blocks fast and take advantage of their six game home stand before heading for the road. "This is the momentum we need," Winch said about going up against TAAC foes FIU and FAU on the 14th and 16th respectively, both at 4:00.

Winch also pointed out that this year's team is more physical than last year's and will use a more offensive style of play to generate goals. UCF demonstrated their battle plan last week against Charleston Southern Univ. winning 12 - 0. So is there room for improvement? Ritvanen believes there is always room, "We set goals for every game. Learn something from every game."

If you want an interesting match up, next week against FAU will present an international, or rather, Scandinavian contest. If you haven't figured it out, UCF's twenty-five man roster is comprised of ten international players, eight from Finland.

FAU boasts fifteen international players, eleven from Sweden, as opposed to their five from Florida. Be sure to pick up a program if you plan to attend the game.

Player-of-the-Week

Freshman Ari Nurmi

— Nurmi scored three times in a 12-0 win over Charleston Southern University, earning his first collegiate hat trick. Nurmi also tied a school record for most points in a game. His two assists and three goals gave him a total of eight points, tying a mark set by Todd Goodman back in 1985.

UCF Athletic Director Steve Sloan has played a major-role in the Golden Knights' jump to Division I-A and now has plans to help the UCF football program join a conference.

UCF Athletic Director Sloan Signs on for Three More Years

Steve Sloan's office was hectic. People were running in and out, the phone never stopped ringing, and faxes kept appearing from mysterious places. I ducked inside long enough to congratulate Mr. Sloan on his new three year contract extension, and three years looked like it was just about all he wanted to take.

UCF President Hitt, your friend and mine, came up with the brilliant plan to extend Athletic Director Steve Sloan's current contract to the end of the century. Yes, I did just use the words President Hitt and brilliant in the same sentence. It was, however, a good decision to sign Sloan who has brought the football team into the ranks of I-A and has had the Men's Athletics win the conference cup for all around athletics twice and the Women's once. Last year, was the first year in conference history for the men's and women's athletics to win from the same school. When asked if he was disappointed that the extension wasn't for a longer term, he shook his head "no" and said he was, "Just happy about it."

Sloan's next efforts will be to try and push for UCF to gain entrance into a conference. Sloan has contacted several conferences, which include the SEC, ACC, and Big East, trying to make UCF appear like a good candidate for admission.

Sloan says, "Getting into a conference will require big efforts from everyone [athletic dept. and administration]."

Another long term goal for UCF is the construction of the new baseball stadium which will be located next to the arena. That project, however, is years in the future. When asked if he had any short term, immediate goals, he looked around him to show I was in the middle of it. It was trying to get the football team to South Carolina without running into a hurricane and creating one himself.
